

Bradford Cathedral Font. The font is a stone container that holds the water used by the clergy (the priests) to baptise, or christen, someone. A person becomes part of the church when they are baptised as it shows to others that they want to follow Jesus. This is why the font is usually near the main entrance. It symbolises a person entering Christianity.

